RAY-STANLEY FIGHT TO END TOMORROW

Fifth Maryland District to Choose Candidate for Congress.

G. O. P. NOMINEE SURE TO BE PARRAN Festival At the New Willard Proves

State Senator Gorman and Governor Crothers Lead Opposing Factions In Contest.

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 29 .- Tomorrow the Democrats of the Fifth Congressional District of Maryland will de-termine by a direct vote who shall receive the nomination for the United States House of Representatives.

The special interest of Washing-tonians lies in the fact that both candidates-Charles H. Stanley and J. Enos Ray, jr .- are residents of Prince George county, the boundary line of which runs along about two-thirds of that of the District of Columbia. Its general interest lies in the fact that it is the first serious test of strength between the Democratic factions led respectively by Governor Crothers and by various leaders allied with the old machine, including Treasurer Murray Vandiver, State Senator Arthur P. Gorman, jr., and others. There is no contest among the Republicans. Thomas J. Parran, of Calvert county, is the only candidate His name will not appear upon the official ballot to be used tomorrow, but his nomination will be certified by the supervisors of election in the various counties comprising the district. For the first time in the his tory of the State, the Congressional nominations will be made by the direct vote of the people, without the intervention of a convention

Crothers for Stanley.

Governor Crothers has espoused the cause of Charles H. Stanley, who is a former Confederate soldler, and a leading attorney, practicing in the cour of Prince George county and Baltimor Governor Crothers will vote for Mr. Stanley, casting his ballot at An napolis, which by law is the voting place of the chief executive. He is represent ed directly in the fight by William E Claggett, comptroller of the State, Governor Crothers' appointment.

Other Prince George leaders who ar supporting Stanley are Dr. Charles Wells, of Hyattsville, State senator, and ACADEMY MATS. TUES., THURS. & SAT. his son, Robert W. Wells, and Georg M. Smith, candidate for Congress twice

Mr. Stanley has made, as the chief element of his fight, a demand for nominations by a direct vote. At the outset of his candidacy nearly a year ago, he said he would be a candidate only if he could go before the Democratic voters of the district and ask for their support directly.

Attorney General's Opinion.

At the time it was generally thought that the direct primary law was not mandatory as to Congessional neminations, but it has since been held by Attorney General Straus that such is the

Mr. Stanley has, however, received the credit of making his fight directly with the people of the district.

Ray's strongest support has come from United States Senator John Walter Smith and State Senator Arthur P. Gorman, jr., who has aspirations to fill the place occupied by his father in Maryland politics. Gorman is a resident of Howard county, which is in the district, and was mentioned for the nomination himself.
The fight is likely to be decided by nomination himself.

The fight is likely to be decided by the result in Prince George county the home county of the two candidates, with the two wards of Baltimore city, which are part of the Fifth district, as an uncertain element. It has been thought that St. Marys, Calvert, and Charles counties were included to give some majority to Ray, owing to the activity of the old Democratic machine in those sections, but Ray's record in favor of the Haman oyster culture bill, a most unpopular measure with the favor of the Haman oyster culture bill, a most unpopular measure with the oystermen, is being used with telling effect in St. Marys and Calvert, which contain many watermen, and this may mean a landslide to Stanley.

Anne Arundel, which contains nearly as many Democratic voters as the three other southern Maryland counties, will give a large majority for Stanley, as he is being strongly supported by Dr. George Wells, clerk of the Circuit court, and the acknowledged leader of the county. Many local politicians estimate this majority at a thousand or more.

Howard County for Ray.

Howard will give a substantial ma-jority for Ray, as it will follow Gorman, but it is not a large county, and cannot pile up a majority like that which is probable in Anne Arun-del. Altogether the fight is a keen one. Either Stanley or Ray can be counted upon to make an active campaign against Parran. The ballot will be simple, and the colored Republicans will have much less difficulty in marking their ballot than during a Presidential year.

Still, the assertion made by the Republicans that the Democrats have no serious expectations of winning the district is nonsense. It is recalled that George M. Smith came within a few hundred votes of winning four years ago, and again two years ago, though he had the redoubtable Sydney E. Mudd as an opponent on both occasions.

Parran will make a strong fight for election, but he has not the record of achievements for the district, such as the splendid new Naval Academy at Annapolis, which made Mudd so strong. However, he has a fine record as a State senator and as clerk of the court of appeals. Incidentally, he is known as one of the most effective story tellers and general campaigners in the State.

They came, they went, those singers from Austria, of the Akademishen Gesangverein Wien, but bearing away memories of Washington that will linger, the Washington Saengerbund hopes, for many years to come.

They boarded a train at Union Station this morning at 8 o'clock and went to Philadelphia, where they will be entertained this afternoon and evening by the German societies of that city. Behind them they left memories which will live forever in the minds of those who listened to their songs here last night. The New Willard's big ballroom was filled to the doors with a crowd including Germans, Austrians. Bohemians, German-Americans, and their wives and friends, and a considerable part of the official circle of Washington.

crowd that gathered about the hotel the outside, without cards of adsion, remained to the end and hung in every note that was wafted ough the lobby and windows to the eet. Perhaps never before was there in a German liederfest in this city, it is a distribution of their hosts. The admiration of their hosts the admiration of their hosts. Their voices rang out in chorus after orus at the kommers. This was the incipal event of the program of entrainment. The Marine Band played the Merry Widow? as a sort of comment to the little red hats of that riety worn by the Viennese. Then the real festivities began, and er, skittles, cakes, and ale were diseased in large quantity. President Swoboda, of the University I Berlin, paid high tributa to Washigton, its people, and its architecture, and said he felt very much at home. Its narrative of the events of the trip is the students through the States licited particular attention. The only
